THE WARD'S ISLAND HORRER.

Perhaps Not So Bad as It Seems After All.

What the Commissioners Knew About Cruelties to Patients-Interview with Farrell-He Denies Having Ever Exercised Brutality-Dr. Echaveria's Course in the Matter Censured-Several Opinions as to Farrell's Guilt.

principal topic of conversation on the islands, at the Coroners' office, among the Commissioners and at the Harlem Police Court. The HeralD reporter visited these places yesterday and found a general scepticism in regard to Fairell's guilt. The employes on the various islands seem to think that this is but one of many false accusations that are levelled against them and should be but little believed until the Coroner's jury decides as to the prisoner's participation in the death of John W-9rnell.

THE INQUEST did not take place yesterday, as it was generally supposed it would. Coroner Keenan states that it was originally fixed for to-day (Tuesday), and he supposing it would take place Monday. To-day, then, the body of Ornell will be critically examined by the Coroner's jury, and it will decide whether Parrell was really gulity of the crime assigned to him or not. There will be present Coro-aer Keenan and his Deputy, Dr. Wooster Beach, who made the post-mortem examination; Mr. Burke, the Warden of the Insane Asylum; Dr. Echevaria, the resident physician of the asylum, the discharged lunatic Candat, who is said to be possessed of facts proving the guilt of Farrell; two or three other lunatics who are ready to tes-tify to the same purpose, and to having seen Farrell commit brutalities against the patients, and also the two attendants Ball and McLaughlan who orked in ward M, with Farrell, and who are ready to swear that no such assault took place as a

A reporter interviewed Farrell yesterday. He is confined still in the prison attached to the Harlem charges against him, and denies them in toto. The following conversation took place:-REPORTER-I understand, Farrell, that you deny the charges against you of having caused the death

FARRELL—I most certainly do. I can say truth fully that I never set hands upon him in anger. charge is a trumped up one, and is unwortny of consideration as coming from lunatics, whose statements should certainly be taken with a great deal of allowance. If any sane person made the charge against me that these lunaties do then I am ready to be punished. But I don't believe there was ever such a how! against any man as there is against me, all originating in the statement of men who are out of their minds.

REPORTER—Have you ever seen any brutality REPORTER—Have you ever seen any brutality used towards the patients in the asylum by any used towards the patients in the asylum by any one?

PARRELL—I have never seen any brutality; no, our ward, that is ward M is the dirtiest ward in the whole asylum. We have the filthiest patients to take care of, and sometimes know hardly how to act when they do the dirtiest things imaginable. It is not an uncommon thing to nave the patients put excrement in their beds. Sometimes when I have seen them do this I have slapped their ears, but gently, and as a means of correction, but never to hurt them. Ornell was a helpless cripple. I used to carry him about from one place to another in my arms. I was always most careful of him, and never in the least ill-treated him. I claim that I have as humane a heart as another man, and would consider myself worthy of being hanged if I beat a lunnatic.

Reforerer—How came you to enter the Asylum?

would consider myself worthy of being hanged if I beat a linatic.

REFORTEN—How came you to enter the Asylum? FARRELL—I was a stair-builder by trade and married. Work got duil and I had to do something for my wife's and my own support. I then applied to a man I knew, Mr. John Mahoney, and he gave me a letter to Sheriff Brennan. The Sheriff gave me another letter to Commissioner Nicholson, who appointed me about six weeks ago. Since that time I have tried to do my duty.

REFORTER—Do you know anything of the case of Rusch, who committed suicide about a week ago, saying he had received injuries in the Asylum.

FARRELL.—Rusch was in our ward, and one day another linatic threw a plate at him and hit him in the head. That's all I know of any brutality to him. You see a lunatic when he gets injured always puts it on a keeper. They are cunning enough to know that it always gets some favoritism shown them, and they consequently do it as a regular thing. But it's hard on us. I have heard so many stories of brutality to patients when I have known none to exist that I looked on it as one of the necessities of the position.

REFORTER—You expect to get off. I suppose.

e position. REPORTER—You expect to get off, I suppose, FARRELI.—Certainly. I don't think this charge will stand investigation. I am confident of ac-will stand investigation. I am condeen of acquittat. The only thing which annoys me is being confined here while my wife at home is in a critical condition. I hope they will hurry up the inquest.

JUSTICE McQuADe's OPINION.

Justice McQuade, before whom the proceedings took place, which resulted in the incarceration of Farrell, stated yesterday that he "didn't think there was anything in the charge," This is somewhat severe on the man Echeverria, who has shown such extraordinary zeal in prosecuting Farrell. The police of the Twelfith precinct, who have had anything to do with the case, profess the greatest contempt for Echeverria's charges, and openly say he has only acted the part of a busybody, who wanted to get his name into print in this matter.

The Herald reporter called at the office of the Commissioners of Charities and Correction. As usual, Mr. Brennan was the only man on duty. The reporter had a very interesting interview with the Commissioner. He said that he first heard of it is man and the stand of the commissioner. He said that he first heard of it is man of the provide and the commissioner of Charities and Correction. As usual, Mr. Brennan was the only man on duty. The reporter had a very interesting interview with the Commissioner. He said that he first heard of it is man and the standard in the commissioner of the case. From his story Mr. Brennan thought there was not much in it, but he told the doctor that if he had any doubts whatever about the giving a certificate to place it in the treasure's hands and, in fact, attend to the whole matter himself. What has been since done has been by Echaverria, and if he succeed in establishing any evidence of guilt on Farrell's part the credit is due to him. It appears from Mr. Brennan; statement that Farrell was no longer a keeper in the Asylum when he was arrested. He had been dismissed before on Echeveria's representations and was coming back for his colones when the head and office of the commissioners of the said was a state of the said to state of t

REPORTER—Well, you see I know of lots of these sases where men have been accused of all sorts of truelties, and it isn't one in a dozen that will stand water. In all the institutions it's the same thing. Some enemy makes a charge against a man and he's discharged, and then the press takes it up and says a great seal against a poor devil who has done nothing, while his accuser is lauded to the skies. I have been there and I know what it is, in this case of Farrell I don't know what it is, in the case of serong, but if it's like the generality of them the boot's on the wrong leg. But we'll see what we'll see."

THE SPANISH PEST SHIP.

Departure of the Numancia-Her Fever List-Thirty-two Cases and Twelve

New York is at last rid of the Spanish yellow fever frigate Numancia, that vessel having left the Lower Bay, en voyage for Spain, on Saturday after-ers detailed Pilot Frederick Nelson, of pilot boat George Washington, No. 22, to conduct the frigate the task. Gillespie, the pilot who brought her in, was not permitted to take her out, on account of the Hoard baying lost confidence; but Nelson be-longs to the same boat as Gillespie, and the part-ners will therefore not lose any proportion of their longs to the same boat as Giliespie, and the partners will therefore not lose any proportion of their iees.

Before sailing the Numancia took in 689 tons of coal and a full supply of provisions. On Saturday morning the last of the yellow fever convaiescents, five in number, belonging to her crew, were returned to the frigate from the West Bank Quarantime Hospital, and at four o'clock she got under way. Having crossed the bar on the full tide, she dropped anchor just outside "the Hook," to wait for 200 tons of coal additional, which was to have been put aboard on Sunday morning. When Sunday morning arrived, however, the Numancia was seen to be laboring quite heavy at her cables, and without waiting till the coal barge reached her she weighed anchor and steod off on her course for Caliz. It was intended to have the frigate's bottom cleaned by divers before leaving port, but it was found impossible to do it in the Lewer Bay, and she has started in a very foul condition. During her stay in port the Numancia sent in all thirty-two cases of yellow fever to the hospital, a larger number than the public have generally supposed. Deputy Health Officer Mosher, however, gives it as his opinion. There were out of this total only eight deaths in hospital from this vessel, making, inclusive of the men who died on the way up to quarantine at the time of her arrival, and those who died on the voyage from Havana, before reaching this port, a total of twelve deaths.

At present there is no yellow fever among the vessels, and the Autumn has advanced so that no more is expected this season.
